

REGULATIONS

Part 3 – Questions

1. What is the Radio Quiet Zone?
2. What is the purpose of an amateur station?
3. When must an operator announce their call sign?
4. On what days can an operator use the prefix AX?
5. An operator must not use an amateur station for what reasons?
6. When must an operator announce the call sign when operating with emergency services operations and training?
7. When can an operator transmit a secret message for the purpose of obscuring the meaning of the signal?
8. What is a spectrum licence?
9. An issued call sign with the prefix VK0 must not be used outside the Australian Antarctic Territory.
  - Australian Antarctic Territory
  - Heard Island
  - Macquarie Island

An issued call sign with the prefix VK9 must not be used outside the Australian External Territories.

- VK9C = Cocos-Keeling
- VK9L = Lord Howe Island
- VK9M = Mellish Reef
- VK9N = Norfolk Island
- VK9W = Willis Island
- VK9X = Christmas Island

What is the one reason these call signs can be used outside their designated areas?

10. Where in the Radiocommunications \(Amateur Stations\) Class Licence 2023 would you find the permitted frequencies, emission modes and power limits for class licences?

